MADE STRONG PLEA

Caleb Powers for the First Time Argues his own Case.

Says His Guilt or Innocence Has Become a Political Issue in the State of Kentucky.

HE SPOKE AGAIN TODAY

Georgetown, Ky., August 28—Before an audience packing the Scott county courthouse to the doors, Caleb Powers spoke for two hours last night in his own defense, declaring his innocence of the charges preferred against him and pleading for his acquittal. Powers' speech followed one of three hours and fifty minutes at the afternoon session by Attorney T. C. Campbell.

In opening his speech Powers said that he was taking advantage of the privilege accorded him by law to speak for himself because of the fact that twice adverse verdicts had been returned against him and because he had grown tired of lying in jail for three years with the feeling and knowledge of his innocence.

He charged the officers of the commonwealth with political persecution and with abandoning the prosecution of all the persons charged, with the exception of Taylor, Finley, Howard and himself. He quoted from records of the vote cast in the last presidential election in the county of Bourbon, from which the jury was summoned, to show that it should have been made up of seven Republicans and five Democrats, instead of eleven Democrats and one Republican. He said that the $100,000 reward fund offered by the state had been used to secure his conviction, and that witnesses had been purchased with money and others secured with promises of immunity. He declared that his guilt or innocence had become a political issue in the state of Kentucky.

Powers continued his argument this morning and declared the stories of Yontsey and Golden are not to be believed.

When court adjourned at noon Powers was allowed another hour and a half. He will be followed by Bob Franklin at night, and the case will probably go to the jury before 10 o'clock tonight. A verdict is expected Saturday morning.

JUMPED INTO RIVER

YOUNG MAN GOT WET, THAT'S ALL.

A young man who had essayed to drown his domestic troubles in the flowing bowl, jumped off the wharfboat last night while drunk and was pulled out by a friend who was with him. It was reported he tried to commit suicide because a suit for divorce had been brought against him but it is believed by his friends that had he been sober he would not have received the ducking.

PROMPT ACTION NOW

Turkey Promises to Make Immediate Investigation.

Warships From the United States Will Proceed to Turkish Waters.

VICE CONSUL'S ASSASSINATION.

Washington, August 28—Turkey has promised to make an immediate investigation of the assassination of the United States vice consul at Beirut and to punish the murderer if his identity is discovered.

American warships will proceed from Genoa to Turkish waters today to back up Minister Leischman's demands.

Acting under the instructions of the president, Mr. Darling has cabled to the admiral at Nice, directing him to go to Beirut at once.

Magelssen, who was a Scandinavian, was appointed vice consul at Beirut September 20, 1890, by Consul Gabriel Bie Ravudal, who is of the same nationality. At the time of his appointment as vice consul he was a consular clerk in Turkey. Magelssen was appointed on the recommendation of Senator Nelson of Minnesota, who says he is a son of a prominent Lutheran minister. He was born at Bratsburg, Fillmore county, Minn.

Minister Leischman's cablegram stated that the assassination occurred Sunday, the minister being informed of the crime by Consul Ravudal. The consul stated that the murderer was not seen, and is not known.

The announcement of the assassination

tion of the American vice consul, following so soon upon the assassination of a Russian consul in Turkey, created strong comment in official circles, and the suggestion was made that such frequent assassinations indicate a very disturbed condition of affairs in the Turkish dominions. Minister Leischman gave no particulars of the assassination, and the state department has no information as to the cause of the murder.

Beirut is a city on the eastern shore of the Mediterranean sea, and is a place of considerable importance.

Mr. Magelssen was 30 years old. He was educated in the common schools of Minnesota and was a student of the Lutheran college at Decorah, Iowa, for three years. For a time he was assistant city assessor of Sioux Falls, S. D., and also associate editor of the Echo.

Paducah came near shutting out the sluggers from Cairo yesterday afternoon. Many people thought it was due to the new pitcher, but while he pitched a fine game and played all over the field, the good support he received had a whole lot to do with the victory.

Probably very few of the spectators thought when they went out that Paducah stood more than a remote chance to win the game, and when they saw Brockett strut to the slab for the Egyptians and remembered that record of twenty games won and only four lost, their hearts sank within them, and they braced themselves for another defeat.

The sluggers from Sluggerville couldn't bat our new southpaw pitcher, as they had been battling other pitchers in the league. They hit him all right but they couldn't get them bunched and those that were driven out towards the Cairoites favorite resort, the outfield fence, were promptly attended to by the gardeners on duty there, Akers, Ray and Long.

The visitors were unable to score until the fifth inning, when Smith made a hit and scored on Crotty's double, Hughes and Wallace getting singles which scored Crotty. The visitors had several subsequent narrow escapes from making tallies, however, but they found Doyle invincible.

As to the redoubtable Brockett, he had to be taken out in the fourth, and Wilder was substituted. Brockett was wild, and besides he did not want to pitch in the first place, which may have been the secret of his failure to do it.

There was a great deal of two-to-one money on Cairo floating around, but there will not be the next time Doyle pitches. Cairoites are betting even money that Cairo takes six out of eight from Paducah, however.

Paducah had a batting streak yesterday, and all but one of the boys got a hit, Potts getting three. The visitors made thirteen hits off Doyle, while Paducah got eleven off the Cairo pitchers. The hits secured off Doyle show that his support had something to do with winning the game. Summary:

BASEBALL NOTES.

Paducah's new southpaw, Doyle, is late of the Cotton States league. First, Doyle is a mighty good man because he was formerly a newspaper reporter. Last year he played with Sydney, O., and beat Cairo two games, hence many of the Cairo boys know him and knew what to expect from him yesterday. He went to the Cotton States league this year and played a portion of the time with Monroe, La., and city where the noted 18 inning 0 to 0 game was played this season, and from there went to Little Rock, Ark. The climate down there did not agree with him and he was sick a great deal of the time, and as they were paying him $200 a month he became too expensive and they had to let him go. He went to Cairo but Cairo's staff of pitchers was full and as they were satisfied with those they have and could not afford to take on such an expensive man they let Paducah have him. Doyle is there with the goods. He knows the game and plays it.

The Cairo men say that Lloyd is one of the best pitchers Paducah has. "You fellows don't appreciate him," declared one yesterday. "Whenever you get a man who can let Cairo down with four hits as he did there, you have a blank good man, I'm telling you. He also let Clarksville down with three hits. The trouble is the grand stand roasts him and the team does not give him any support."

Mr. Dick Callisi is getting up a baseball team here to play Mayfield. Recently an amateur team composed of boys went down to play that team and were so badly beaten that the game was stopped in disgust in the seventh inning. Mr. Callisi intends to secure the best amateurs here and secure a series of three games and feels confident of winning out.

It is probable that next season will find the grand stand and bleachers moved to another portion of the ball park. The players hate to come to Paducah because the sun is in their eyes constantly while in the field, and they can hardly field a ball after it has been stopped as the sun blinds them and they can't see where to throw.

There will be a double header played at Cairo Sunday between Paducah and Cairo. There are two games owing the Paducah and Cairo teams and this double header will leave but one. It is thought that a large crowd will go down from Paducah as Doyle will probably pitch one of the games.

Tommie Clifford's hand is again in bad shape. Yesterday he split his finger nail open again on his throwing hand and his thumb is badly bruised and swollen. His throwing is excellent however, not seeming to be affected at all by the condition of his hand.

LeCompte's finger is still in bad condition and he will not be able to play for some time. LeCompte will be out of the game during the next trip to Cairo. Potts will remain at short and Edmunds at second base, Clifford remaining behind the bat.

Captain Carraway, who was here recently with Clarksville, has quit. He was formerly Captain in one of the Tennessee companies of which Lieutenant Percy Jordan, of the Wheeler Guards, of Paducah, was a member.

Foreman Louis Koerner, of the government building addition is an old baseball player and has played with some of the stars of the diamond in his time. He was formerly in the National League.

Myatt, who has been with Clarksville, has joined Henderson. It is said that Clarksville is pitching Harris about three-fourths of the time in order to win the pennant if possible.

The support Doyle had yesterday was first class. The visitors made thirteen hits but couldn't score but twice. Few of them got any further than first.

The fans are greatly pleased with Doyle, the new pitcher. Judging from yesterday's showing there is no fault to find with him.

Manager Gage was in the grand stand yesterday and the fans had a hard time getting coaches out to the boxes.

Clark, a left handed pitcher who has been umpiring, will be tried by Hopkinsville. He was formerly with Cairo.

Yesterday was ladies' day at the park and many of them enjoyed the novelty of seeing Paducah win.

Long seems to have entirely recovered from his sprained ankle, judging from his excellent fielding.

Doyle has been permanently signed with the local team, the papers having been drawn up last night.

Dickens, formerly with Cairo, is now playing with the Vicksburg, Miss., team.

It is understood that Orr will be released but this has not been definitely decided.

It is reported that Rube Gardner, of Henderson, has signed again for next season.

Witt will pitch for Cairo this afternoon and Rutledge will catch.

Orr will pitch the game for Paducah this afternoon.

WORK ENDS TOMORROW

ORGANIZER CRAIG WILL THEN GO TO CAIRO TO CANVASS.

Forty-two members is the record made by Organizer Aleck Craig, of Louisville, who is here getting members for the Ohio River Improvement Association. He has been here two weeks, and when he winds up his work tomorrow expects to have fifty members. The membership is $5 each, and he is greatly pleased with the enthusiasm manifested among Paducahans over the Ohio river work. From here he goes to Cairo.

WANTED.

We would like to ask, through the columns of your paper, if there is any person who has used Green's August Flower for the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and liver troubles that has not been cured—and we also mean their results, such as sour stomach, fermentation of food, habitual constiveness, nervous dyspepsia, headaches, despondent feelings, sleeplessness—in fact, any trouble connected with the stomach or liver? This medicine has been sold for many years in all civilized countries, and we wish to correspond with you and send you one of our books free of cost. If you never tried August Flower, try a 25 cent bottle first. We have never known of its failing. If so, something more serious is the matter with you. The 25 cent size has just been introduced this year. Regular size 75 cents. At all druggists.

French Lick and West Baden Springs

In the highlands of Indiana—a two hour ride from Louisville there flow wonderful healing waters, that you'd spend hundreds of dollars to enjoy if they were in Europe.

A recent visitor from Philadelphia, who formerly went to Carlsbad every year, said: "I do not see why anyone goes to Europe for medicinal waters. The water is as beneficial, and the scenery and surrounding country, the air and the opportunities for recreation are better; the hotels and all accommodations are much finer at French Lick-West Baden Springs"—and this gentleman is a native of Switzerland.

The splendidly wooded hills with the cool, invigorating air of these highlands where one can enjoy rambles in the depths of the forest, or rides and drives among the numerous hidden paths and roadways, afford pleasure for those who desire rest and quiet, while at the splendid and casinos one can have all the entertainment and pleasures possible at the most fashionable resorts.

JACKSON WINS.

Jackson, Tenn., August 28—Yesterday's game resulted:

Jackson,	11	15	2
Clarksville,	5	6	1

Batteries: Murray and Pettit, Collins, Holmes and Reiney.

Paducah came near shutting out the sluggers from Cairo yesterday afternoon. Many people thought it was due to the new pitcher, but while he pitched a fine game and played all over the field, the good support he received had a whole lot to do with the victory.

Probably very few of the spectators thought when they went out that Paducah stood more than a remote chance to win the game, and when they saw Brockett strut to the slab for the Egyptians and remembered that record of twenty games won and only four lost, their hearts sank within them, and they braced themselves for another defeat.

The sluggers from Sluggersville couldn't bat our new southpaw pitcher, as they had been batting other pitchers in the league. They hit him all right but they couldn't get them bunched and those that were driven out towards the Cairoites favorite resort, the outfield fence, were promptly attended to by the gardeners on duty there, Akers, Ray and Long.

The visitors were unable to score until the fifth inning, when Smith made a hit and scored on Crotty's double, Hughes and Wallace getting singles which scored Crotty. The visitors had several subsequent narrow escapes from making tallies, however, but they found Doyle invincible.

As to the redoubtable Brockett, he had to be taken out in the fourth, and Wilder was substituted. Brockett was wild, and besides he did not want to pitch in the first place, which may have been the secret of his failure to do it.

There was a great deal of two-to-one money on Cairo floating around, but there will not be the next time Doyle pitches. Cairoites are betting even money that Cairo takes six out of eight from Paducah, however.

Paducah had a batting streak yesterday, and all but one of the boys got a hit, Potts getting three. The visitors made thirteen hits off Doyle, while Paducah got eleven off the Cairo pitchers. The hits secured off Doyle show that his support had something to do with winning the game. Summary:

BASEBALL NOTES.

Paducah's new southpaw, Doyle, is late of the Cotton States league. First, Doyle is a mighty good man because he was formerly a newspaper reporter. Last year he played with Sydney, O., and beat Cairo two games, hence many of the Cairo boys know him and knew what to expect from him yesterday. He went to the Cotton States league this year and played a portion of the time with Monroe, La., and city where the noted 18 inning 0 to 0 game was played this season, and from there went to Little Rock, Ark. The climate down there did not agree with him and he was sick a great deal of the time, and as they were paying him $200 a month he became too expensive and they had to let him go. He went to Cairo but Cairo's staff of pitchers was full and as they were satisfied with those they have and could not afford to take on such an expensive man they let Paducah have him. Doyle is there with the goods. He knows the game and plays it.

The Cairo men say that Lloyd is one of the best pitchers Paducah has. "You fellows don't appreciate him," declared one yesterday. "Whenever you get a man who can let Cairo down with four hits as he did there, you have a blank good man, I'm telling you. He also let Clarksville down with three hits. The trouble is the grand stand roasts him and the team does not give him any support."

Mr. Dick Callisi is getting up a baseball team here to play Mayfield. Recently an amateur team composed of boys went down to play that team and were so badly beaten that the game was stopped in disgust in the seventh inning. Mr. Callisi intends to secure the best amateurs here and secure a series of three games and feels confident of winning out.

It is probable that next season will find the grand stand and bleachers moved to another portion of the ball park. The players hate to come to Paducah because the sun is in their eyes constantly while in the field, and they can hardly field a ball after it has been stopped as the sun blinds them and they can't see where to throw.

There will be a double header played at Cairo Sunday between Paducah and Cairo. There are two games owing the Paducah and Cairo teams and this double header will leave but one. It is thought that a large crowd will go down from Paducah as Doyle will probably pitch one of the games.

Tommy Clifford's hand is again in bad shape. Yesterday he split his finger nail open again on his throwing hand and his thumb is badly bruised and swollen. His throwing is excellent however, not seeming to be affected at all by the condition of his hand. LeCompte's finger is still in bad condition and he will not be able to play for some time. LeCompte will be out of the game during the next trip to Cairo. Potts will remain at short and Edmonds at second base, Clifford remaining behind the bat.

Captain Carraway, who was here recently with Clarksville, has quit. He was formerly Captain in one of the Tennessee companies of which Lieutenant Percy Jordan, of the Wheeler Guards, of Paducah, was a member.

Foreman Louis Koerner, of the government building addition is an old baseball player and has played with some of the stars of the diamond in his time. He was formerly in the National League.

Myatt, who has been with Clarksville, has joined Henderson. It is said that Clarksville is pitching Harris about three-fourths of the time in order to win the pennant if possible.

The support Doyle had yesterday was first class. The visitors made thirteen hits but couldn't score but twice. Few of them got any further than first.

The fans are greatly pleased with Doyle, the new pitcher. Judging from yesterday's showing there is no fault to find with him.

Manager Gage was in the grand stand yesterday and the fans had a hard time getting coaches out to the boxes.

Clark, a left handed pitcher who has been umpiring, will be tried by Hopkinsville. He was formerly with Cairo.

Yesterday was ladies' day at the park and many of them enjoyed the novelty of seeing Paducah win.

Long seems to have entirely recovered from his sprained ankle, judging from his excellent fielding.

Doyle has been permanently signed with the local team, the papers having been drawn up last night.

Dickens, formerly with Cairo, is now playing with the Vicksburg, Miss., team.

It is understood that Orr will be released but this has not been definitely decided.

It is reported that Rube Gardner, of Henderson, has signed again for next season.

Witt will pitch for Cairo this afternoon and Rutledge will catch.

Orr will pitch the game for Paducah this afternoon.

WORK ENDS TOMORROW

ORGANIZER CRAIG WILL THEN GO TO CAIRO TO CANVASS.

Forty-two members is the record made by Organizer Aleck Craig, of Louisville, who is here getting members for the Ohio River Improvement Association. He has been here two weeks, and when he winds up his work tomorrow expects to have fifty members. The membership is $5 each, and he is greatly pleased with the enthusiasm manifested among Paducahans over the Ohio river work. From here he goes to Cairo.

WANTED.

We would like to ask, through the columns of your paper, if there is any person who has used Green's August Flower for the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and liver troubles that has not been cured—and we also mean their results, such as sour stomach, fermentation of food, habitual constiveness, nervous dyspepsia, headaches, despondent feelings, sleeplessness—in fact, any trouble connected with the stomach or liver? This medicine has been sold for many years in all civilized countries, and we wish to correspond with you and send you one of our books free of cost. If you never tried August Flower, try a 25 cent bottle first. We have never known of its failing. If so, something more serious is the matter with you. The 25 cent size has just been introduced this year. Regular size 75 cents. At all druggists.

CRUSHES OUT THE LIFE

The most loathsome and repulsive of all living things is the serpent, and the vilest and most degrading of all human diseases is Contagious Blood Poison. The serpent sinks its fangs into the flesh and almost instantly the poison passes through the entire body. Contagious Blood Poison, beginning with a little ulcer, soon contaminates every drop of blood and spreads throughout the whole system. Painful swellings appear in the groins, a red rash and copper colored spots break out on the body, the mouth and throat become ulcerated, and the hair and eye brows fall out; but these symptoms are mild compared to the wretchedness and suffering that come in the latter stages of the disease when it attacks the bones and more vital parts of the body. It is then that Contagious Blood Poison is seen in all its hideousness. The deep eating abscesses and sickening ulcers and tumors show the whole system is corrupted and poisoned, and unless relief comes soon this serpent disease tightens its coils and crushes out the life. The only antidote for the awful virus is S. S. S. It is nature's remedy, composed entirely of vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. destroys every vestige of the poison, purifies the blood and removes all danger of transmitting the awful taint to others. Nothing else will do this. Strong mineral remedies, like mercury and potash, dry up the sores and drive in the disease, but do not cure permanently. Send for our home treatment book and write us if in need of medical advice or special information. This will cost you nothing.

THE STAG LOOKING INTO THE POOL.

Find the Hound.

A stag, drinking at a clear pool, admired the handsome look of his spreading antlers, but was much displeased at the slim and ungainly appearance of his legs. "What a glorious pair of branching horns," said he. "How gracefully they hang over my forehead, what an agreeable air they give my face, but as for my spindle shanks of legs, I am heartily ashamed of them." The words were scarcely out of his mouth, when he saw some hunters and a pack of hounds making toward him. His despised legs soon placed him at a distance from his followers; but, on entering the forest, his horns got entangled at every turn, so that the dogs soon reached him and made an end of him. "Mistaken fool that I was," he exclaimed, "had it not been for these wretched horns, my legs would have saved my life."

OUR DRUGGISTS

ARE THINKING OF FORMING CO-OPERATIVE INSURANCE COMPANY.

The retail druggists of Kentucky have a plan on foot by which they will carry their own fire insurance and escape the high rates now charged by the insurance companies.

At the last meeting of the Retail Druggists' Association of Louisville the plan was discussed and a committee appointed to investigate the plan.

The committee will make its report at the next meeting to be held in November.

The druggists claim that they are less liable to loss by fire than in any other business, yet their insurance rate is much higher. They base their claim on the fact that their business hours are longer and that after the closing of their stores there is a clerk who spends the night in the building.

Druggists Mutual Protective Association against loss by fire has been successfully carried on in the states of New York, Massachusetts and Ohio.

TWO NEW WELLS

FULTON WATERWORKS TO BE THE BEST IN THIS SECTION.

The mayor and city council of Fulton, on account of the increased demand, have found it necessary to have more wells and the council has let the contract to Mr. Osborne of Dyersburg, to bore two more ten inch wells.

The wells will be bored near the other two and will have a capacity of 100 gallons each per day, and will cost the city when complete about $1,500. The city supplies the Illinois Central railroad which demands a large supply of water.

MUCH SICKNESS

DOCTORS REPORT THAT NOT MUCH OF IT IS SERIOUS HOWEVER.

The hot weather or something else has made many people sick in Paducah, according to the doctors. A few physicians claim that they do not observe any more illness than usual, while others report an unusual number of patients. One gentleman whose business takes him all over the city states that he never saw as many people laying around or sick in bed, as he saw a day or two ago.

HOT AFTER CROOKS

Negroes Arrested For Passing Raised Bills.

Believed to be the Same Men Who Turned Loose 25 or 30 of Them Here.

MAY HAVE KILLED OFFICER.

The local police have never solved the mystery of who turned loose the "raised" bills here on August 8, but they have an idea that two negroes badly wanted in Louisville, did it. The negroes, it is claimed, went there and let loose quite a quantity of the bills, and were finally detected by the government authorities, and Henry Shepard, a deputy United States marshal who was appointed for the purpose of effecting their arrest, was shot and killed by one of them at Cave City, near Louisville.

About thirty of the bills were passed successfully in Paducah, and it is believed the men, who have been operating up about Louisville and Cincinnati, dropped down here on the 8th of August knowing there would be a good chance to successfully defraud people.

One negro is now under arrest suspected of being one of the "raised bill" crooks, and gives his name as Tom Peoples. He is identified positively by one woman on whom a $1 bill raised to $5 was passed. One thing that makes it probable he is one of the same men who worked the game here is that the $1 bills he passes are raised to $5 like those were here, when it would be just as easy to have raised them to $10.

Peoples denies any knowledge of raised bills, or of the shooting of the officer, but he cannot account for his whereabouts.

The police there are looking for his companion, a taller negro.

CRUSHES OUT THE LIFE

The most loathsome and repulsive of all living things is the serpent, and the vilest and most degrading of all human diseases is Contagious Blood Poison. The serpent sinks its fangs into the flesh and almost instantly the poison passes through the entire body. Contagious Blood Poison, beginning with a little ulcer, soon contaminates every drop of blood and spreads throughout the whole system. Painful swellings appear in the groins, a red rash and copper colored spots break out on the body, the mouth and throat become ulcerated, and the hair and eye brows fall out; but these symptoms are mild compared to the wretchedness and suffering that come in the latter stages of the disease when it attacks the bones and more vital parts of the body. It is then that Contagious Blood Poison is seen in all its hideousness. The deep eating abscesses and sickening ulcers and tumors show the whole system is corrupted and poisoned, and unless relief comes soon this serpent disease tightens its coils and crushes out the life. The only antidote for the awful virus is S. S. S. It is nature's remedy, composed entirely of vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. destroys every vestige of the poison, purifies the blood and removes all danger of transmitting the awful taint to others. Nothing else will do this. Strong mineral remedies, like mercury and potash, dry up the sores and drive in the disease, but do not cure permanently. Send for our home treatment book and write us if in need of medical advice or special information. This will cost you nothing.

THE STAG LOOKING INTO THE POOL.

Find the Hound.

A stag, drinking at a clear pool, admired the handsome look of his spreading antlers, but was much displeased at the slim and ungainly appearance of his legs. "What a glorious pair of branching horns," said he. "How gracefully they hang over my forehead, what an agreeable air they give my face, but as for my spindle shanks of legs, I am heartily ashamed of them." The words were scarcely out of his mouth, when he saw some huntsmen and a pack of hounds making toward him. His despised legs soon placed him at a distance from his followers; but, on entering the forest, his horns got entangled at every turn, so that the dogs soon reached him and made an end of him. "Mistaken fool that I was," he exclaimed, "had it not been for these wretched horns, my legs would have saved my life."

ARE THINKING OF FORMING CO-OPERATIVE INSURANCE COMPANY.

The retail druggists of Kentucky have a plan on foot by which they will carry their own fire insurance and escape the high rates now charged by the insurance companies.

At the last meeting of the Retail Druggists' Association of Louisville the plan was discussed and a committee appointed to investigate the plan.

The committee will make its report at the next meeting to be held in November.

The druggists claim that they are less liable to loss by fire than is any other business, yet their insurance rate is much higher. They base their claim on the fact that their business hours are longer and that after the closing of their stores there is a clerk who spends the night in the building.

The Druggists Mutual Protective Association against loss by fire has been successfully carried on in the states of New York, Massachusetts and Ohio.

TWO NEW WELLS

FULTON WATERWORKS TO BE THE BEST IN THIS SECTION.

The mayor and city council of Fulton, on account of the increased demand, have found it necessary to have more wells and the council has let the contract to Mr. Osborne of Dyersburg, to bore two more ten inch wells.

The wells will be bored near the other wells and will have a capacity of 100,000 gallons each per day, and will cost the city when complete about $1,600. The city supplies the Illinois Central railroad which demands a large supply of water.

MUCH SICKNESS

DOCTORS REPORT THAT NOT MUCH OF IT IS SERIOUS HOWEVER.

The hot weather or something else has made many people sick in Paducah, according to the doctors. A few physicians claim that they do not observe any more illness than usual, while others report an unusual number of patients. HOT AFTER CROOKS

Negroes Arrested For Passing Raised Bills.

Believed to be the Same Men Who Turned Loose 25 or 30 of Them Here.

MAY HAVE KILLED OFFICER.

The local police have never solved the mystery of who turned loose the "raised" bills here on August 8, but they have an idea that two negroes badly wanted in Louisville, did it. The negroes, it is claimed, went there and let loose quite a quantity of the bills, and were finally detected by the government authorities, and Henry Shepard, a deputy United States marshal who was appointed for the purpose of effecting their arrest, was shot and killed by one of them at Cave City, near Louisville.

About thirty of the bills were passed successfully in Paducah, and it is believed the men, who have been operating up about Louisville and Cincinnati, dropped down here on the 8th of August knowing there would be a good chance to successfully defraud people.

One negro is now under arrest suspected of being one of the "raised bill" crooks, and gives his name as Tom Peoples. He is identified positively by one woman on whom a $1 bill raised to $5 was passed. One thing that makes it probable he is one of the same men who worked the game here is that the $1 bills he passes are raised to $5 like those were here, when it would be just as easy to have raised them to $10.

Peoples denies any knowledge of raised bills, or of the shooting of the officer, but he cannot account for his whereabouts.

The police there are looking for his companion, a taller negro.

The Big Circus Brought In in Three Sections.

Very Little Astir in Railroad Circles Today.

The Adam Forepaugh and Sells Bros. shows arrived this morning from Hopkinsville in three sections. The first train arrived at 7:15 and was sidetracked at 11th and Broadway and unloaded. The second train arrived at 7:40 and the third about 9 o'clock. The shows seem to be larger than ever before and an enormous crowd was out to see the trains unloaded.

Two extra coaches were brought in this morning on the Fulton and Louisville accommodation train but were empty, few passengers being brought in to see the shows.

WE NEED BUSINESS MEN.

The strenuousness of the Democratic state administration, which was conceived in iniquity, born of theft and has been nurtured by perennial graft, is shown up in its true colors
by the Louisville Herald. By facts and figures the paper exposes the wanton extravagance of the sycophants
and suggests the need of honest, energetic business men at the head of our government to supplant the tricksters
and politicians.

Says the Herald:

The prison board, which has been juggling political favors with the pardon mill, was created for no other purpose than to give offices to three pap hunters, whose own districts have not considered their services valuable enough to reward, and in five years
they have cost the state $42,000 for services which the sinking fund commissioners had for many years performed without cost.

These political parasites, with no
duties to perform of any importance, travel to and from Frankfort at the expense of the state every month, and then pay a secretary to do the clerical work that the law intended they should do themselves. This salary is charged to prison expense, not to prison board expense—a clear case of official graft.

In addition to this, the board exercises the parole power and keeps half a record hidden from view in order that the public may not know what protests are filed against the paroling of criminals. Ex-convicts charge that protests are sometimes "cooked up,"

in order that fees may be demanded
by unscrupulous persons to have them withdrawn. But the public cannot see these protests in order that the facts may be investigated. The whole board is a political graft that has no good excuse for existence, and for which the state is paying through the nose.

In Superintendent McChesney's
office of public instruction the expenditures during the Beckham administration have surpassed, even in the short term, those of the Bradley administration of four years by nearly $8,000. Yet the school per capita has decreased, schools have been discouraged, and the whole system neglected.

Under a strict business administration of the state revenues these things could not happen. If Colonel Belknap is elected they won't happen. Colonel Belknap is a strict administrator,
a trained business man, who takes care
of his own money, and will take care of the public money. He is called "an icicle" and a "cold proposition," but the Democrats will not charge that he keeps warm by burning taxpayers' money.

Give the state a chance for Belknap
and Business.

MODERN HYPOCRISY.

Even the plebeian Pops are taking to the trust idea. Fifteen hundred southwestern farmers who doubtless vote regularly for W. J. Bryan or some other Populist, have organized a capital of $200,000 by putting up $133.30 each to force wheat to a dollar. These benevolently inclined farmers no doubt rail against "trusts" continually, and have a conviction fit every time any one mentions the Republican party to them because they have read in some of their benighted partisan sheets that the Republican party favored trusts.
Yet they themselves are now organizing a trust to force up the price of wheat, a necessity from which we get the "staff of life," which will mean that many extra nickles will be eked
from the poor and needy who can ill afford to spare contributions to a class who have no trouble getting plenty to eat because they raise it. The extra price resulting from forcing up the price of wheat will go to enrich a few farmers at the expense of millions of bread winners. But this is only one instance of the many hypocrisies of the age. The farmer does not care any more for the welfare or the bank account of the poor man in the city
than he is taught to believe the trust magnate cares for his. The farmer has nothing against trusts when they work for his own pecuniary advancement. In fact he often, as the southwestern farmers have now done, goes to considerable trouble and expense to form one of his own, and more than that, one that will work against a worthy class of people and those less able to stand it, the poor people.

A great many people cling to the peculiar idea that the farmer is a much abused man and is entitled to the earnest legislation and solicitation of the other people of this country. To get right down to facts, the farmer is usually a man much to be envied. By the help of nature he raises more than enough to take care of himself and family, and if he were appreciative and satisfied would be more fortunate than any other class of people.

The people who are deserving, and whose lot is anything but pleasant as compared to the farmer, are the working people in the cities, countless thousands of whom would have to look to charity for food and shelter tomorrow if they should happen to be disabled or lose their positions today.
In the great policy of protection the Republican party is their friend today
as it has always been in the past, and will continue to be in the future.

THE REX MFG. CO.

In the editorial columns of The Sun reference was made yesterday to the proposition made to the people of Paducah by the Rex Mfg. Co., looking to the establishment here of a frame factory. It was erroneously stated that the above company desire to place $50,000 of stock here, while the fact is that the company is only asking our people to purchase $50,000 first mortgage bonds. This is a most fair proposition and should be accepted.
Paducah needs more factories and here is an opportunity to get a goose one by an investment in bonds which are of themselves safe and a good investment.

Some of our Democratic friends are an inconsistent lot. They fully appreciate the opportunity the Republicans of Paducah have to show them up, but think as a favor they ought not to do it.
"What business is it of you Republicans?" some of them ask. It would be just as sensible to ask them what business it is of the Democrats what the Republicans do, yet when do the Democrats or the Democratic papers ever miss an opportunity to rap the Republicans? We feel truly sorry for our Democratic friends because of the mess they have gotten themselves into in Paducah, but we just have to take a shot at them occasionally. All's fair in politics, you know.

King Peter, of Serbia, has found that protecting regicides is dangerous to a ruler, and has just found it necessary to have executed several army officers who plotted to murder the king and queen recently assassinated,
and that accomplished, set about treating King Peter likewise. Usually all kings look alike to such people and the same class to whom King Peter vouchsafed protection because their murderous conspiracy gave him a throne, will eventually treat him just as they treated his predecessors.

Down in Arkansas they have a new term which is neither pugilistic or "baseball." It is political, and the words are "knocked off the platform."
They signify the summary termination of a political debate, and the last victim was Governor Jeff Davis, who was "knocked off the platform" by his pugnacious opponent, Justice Wood, of the supreme court, and took the count.

Louisville milk men since the authorities got after them, have changed their tactics. Instead of pouring water in the milk they pour milk in the water.

It will not be hard after the Democratic primary next month to see what the Democratic party in Paducah stands for.

TO HOLD CONVENTION

Republicans to Nominate Candidates For City Offices.

Convention Will Not Be Held Until
After the Democratic Primary
September 10.

MAY BE A SLIM PRIMARY

The Republican city committee will meet in the near future and call a convention to nominate candidates for city offices. The convention will not be held until after the Democratic primary September 10.

A complete ticket will be nominated and every effort will be made to have the most representative men on it.
There will be candidates for every office from school trustee up to mayor and the Republicans will be usual no doubt advocate in their platform principally municipal progress.

A proposition was made by the Republicans to the Democrats some time ago, in order to eliminate every possibility of infusing politics into the board of education, that the Democrats nominate but six trustees and Republicans nominate six also. This proposition which would have insured
an equal vote in the board, was rejected and the Democrats insisted on naming a whole ticket.

It is understood that many of the Democrats belonging to or in sympathy with the Good Government league may refuse to go into the Democratic primary now on account of the probability of being unable to vote
for a ticket that they can consistently support.

Four of the published candidates
for aldermen on the Democratic ticket
Messrs. W. E. Covington, R. J. Settle, R. G. Terrell and J. Andy Bauer, and three for the council, Messrs. A. J.
Decker, J. D. Bacon and John Nie-haus, have withdrawn their names,
some claiming that their names had been used without authority, and others that they had reconsidered.
Most of these were supposed to be on the ticket to be supported by the Good Government leaguers, leaving the board of aldermen unless they can pledge remaining candidates supposed to be on the other side, as according to reports they had pledged only eight out of sixteen candidates, leaving them now with but four pledged candidates, not a majority, for the board of aldermen.

The Republicans daily receive every assurance of being able to easily win
in Paducah this fall, and they expect to exert every effort to do so.

Mr. William Keller, of the I. C., at Louisville, was in the city today.

AN ADDRESS TO VOTERS OF KENTUCKY

Issued by State Committee

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

Gentlemen: At a Commercial Convention of the State of Kentucky, held in the city of Louisville on the 2d, 3d and 4th days of June, 1903, the undersigned were appointed a committee for the purpose of bringing the amendment to the constitution of the state which is to be voted upon at the November election this year, to the attention of voters of all parties in the state, and obtain for it the necessary
number of votes to secure its adoption.

The amendment is purely a non-partisan measure, vitally affecting the interests of all citizens of the state, no matter what their party affiliations or occupations may be, or where their places of residence are situated.

The beneficial effects which will follow the adoption of the amendment are so vast that they can hardly be estimated. The evil that will result, if by any chance the amendment
should fall of adoption, will be disastrous in the extreme to the best interests of the state.

The adoption of the amendment will not change in the least the present system of taxation in Kentucky for state and county purposes, as it applies only to taxes levied by cities and towns for their own local purposes.

The manufacturers, merchants and financial institutions in the cities and towns of our state are now tremendously handicapped in competing with those in other states by the provision of our state constitution which requires the same ad valorem taxes to be levied on all personal property
by cities and towns, for their local purposes, as is levied by them on real estate within their boundaries.

This provision does not exist in other states in which the competitors of our manufacturers, merchants and financial institutions are located, so that our people in these lines of business are at a great disadvantage in competing with those of other states, and the result is that our existing industries do not grow as they should,
new industries are not established in our state in as large number and importance as in other states which do not possess anything like our natural advantages, but in which taxation is not nearly so burdensome and onerous
as in Kentucky.

The provision of our constitution
which the amendment, after its adoption, will cure, also operates to drive capital from our midst, and compels that which remains with us to charge
us higher interest rates when we borrow money than we would have to pay if money used in banking and financial operations was not taxed so exorbitantly for municipal purposes.

Farmers and country merchants of Kentucky, don't make the mistake of thinking the adoption of this amendment of the constitution will not ben-eficially affect you.

If you want existing factories in our towns and cities to grow, so as to give employment to more men; if you want new industries to be established, employing still more men; if you want more consumers for your farm products and more buyers at your counters; if you want lower interest rates
when you borrow money; if you want to lessen your state and county taxes;
in a word, if you want as much prosperity throughout the length and breadth of our grand old commonwealth as prevails in other states, then vote for the amendment, and get your neighbors to vote for it.

Every existing factory enlarged, and every new factory brought into Kentucky through this amendment to our constitution, means

Lower State and County Taxes,
for all the property thus brought in will go to swell the assessments for state and county purposes, which will enable the rate to be reduced.

Let the amendment be adopted by an overwhelming vote in its favor.

STOPPED THE TRAIN

Toughs Frighten Illinois Central Passengers at Louisville.

Kicked an Officer and Escaped—Special Agent Dineen Works Up
the Case.

WARRANTS HAVE BEEN ISSUED

Special Agent W. T. Dineen of the Illinois Central, has just completed a good piece of detective work for the road, and is here today on account of the circus crowds.

Sunday the I. C. accommodation 121, due in Paducah at 3:45 p. m.
was stopped just outside Louisville by desperadoes. The passengers thought they were about to be held up, but it seems the intention of the toughs was to seize a few satchels and jump off.
Mike Owens, a private policeman, saw them, and they saw him.

When they saw his uniform they retired to the platform and put on the brakes. This brought the train to a stop and the three alighted.

Owens sprang out after them, and,
showing his badge, said: "You are all under arrest."

"What for?" called one thug, decisively.

"For obstructing a railroad train," answered Owens, and attempting to seize one of the men. At the same instant one of the others kicked Owens
in the stomach, rendering him helpless.

The men and women in the coaches
were peering through the windows,
watching the scuffle and wondering if,
when the officer had been demolished,
they would be relieved of their valuables. The three men merely glanced at the prostrate Owens, however, and went their way.

Special Agent Dineen was detailed on the case. He and Owens identified the men as Sam Tipton, Lee Mileback and Jim Kerr. Warrants were sworn out for them, but no arrests have yet been made. The charge against the three—obstructing a railroad train—is a serious one, conviction entailing a good sized penitentiary sentence.

Sam Tipton is believed to be the man who kicked the watchman. He has a penitentiary term to his credit,
having been convicted of housebreaking in October, 1902.

Owens was not seriously injured.
He worked up the case against the

ADAMS EXPRESS MEN

Will Hereafter be Furnished
With Bonds in the Company.

A New System Announced to Be Effective Everywhere September 1.

OFFICIAL NOTICE RECEIVED

Agent J. J. Freunlich, of the Adams Express company, today received official notice of a new system to be inaugurated for indemnifying the company from loss through the carelessness or dishonesty of agents and messengers, effective September 1.

The new method will be by insuring them in a bond company of its own. This system has been tried by the American Express company for several years, and has proved an entire success. The Adams Express company covers an enormous territory and employs about 10,000 road agents
and messengers and station agents.
All of these agents are now bonded by various indemnity companies. For these bonds they have to pay at the rate of 25 cents a hundred annually.
The messengers are bonded for $3,000
each, and the station agents for $500
each.

It is not known under what arrangements the bonds will be given in the new company, but the charge will be about the same now charged. The new bond company, while under the control of the Adams Express company, will be a separate institution, and will be conducted on the same plan as an ordinary indemnity company, except that only the employees of the Adams will be admitted.

The losses on this class of insurance are very small comparatively, and the company expects to be able to handle the business in such a manner that in a short time it can give bonds to its various messengers for very small amounts.

The rate to be paid by the agents is 25 cents on the hundred dollars.

men. Special Agent Dineen is preparing a report to go to the superintendent.

Tom L. Johnson clinched his preliminary victory in the Ohio Democratic convention by securing complete control and securing his own nomination for governor.

THIS IS CIRCUS DAY

Thousands of Strange People
Throng the Streets.

One of the Biggest on Earth Spreads
Its Canvass Here
Today.

THE PARADE WAS LATE.

It would not require an expert to guess from the appearance of things in Paducah that this is circus day. Paducah since daylight has been thronged with people, and they had a long wait, for on account of a late arrival the circus did not get unloaded early and it was after 1 o'clock when the parade started.

As usual the small boy was "up with the chickens" to "see the show come in," and the sights that have gladdened his heart for years and years were just as good as new today.

The Forepaugh-Sells Brothers show is one of the largest in the world, and this is not its first trip to Paducah. It is this time larger and better than ever before. Its menagerie is second to none in the world and its equipment is of the most complete to be found anywhere. This, the thousands who witnessed the street parade realized this afternoon.

The show came here from Hopkinsville and is located at Tenth and Monroe. It was 1:30 before the big procession got down town, but the people were still waiting. This afternoon a monster crowd is under the big tent enjoying the performance, and tonight there will be another large one.

TO LEAVE PADUCAH

Mr. W. G. McFadden Gets a Good Position Away.

He Will Be President of New School
for Photography.

"The Southern School of Photography," of which Mr. W. G. McFadden of this city was made president, has been organized at McMinnville, Tenn. The school was incorporated with $10,000 capital stock with Mr. McFadden as vice president of the incorporation. Its object is to teach the art of photography, and it is the second institution of its kind in America, the other being located in a small Illinois town.

Mr. McFadden will leave Paducah and give his entire attention to the school. This news will be learned with regret by Paducah people, for Mr. McFadden is very popular here and one of the most artistic and efficient photographers, who ever had a studio in this city.

He will not leave, however, before the first of next year as the school will not be in operation before that time.

Of Mr. McFadden the McMinnville New Era says: Mr. McFadden was the third president of the Kentucky-Tennessee association of Photographers, and is conducting one of the most successful and profitable photograph galleries in the south. His willingness to give up his fine business in Paducah from which he annually realizes a handsome profit, is the best evidence of his faith in the success of the school here.

THE SICK.

The child of Mr. Tate on South Tenth street, who has been ill from diphtheria, is improving and the house was released from quarantine this afternoon.

Master Warren Sights, who is ill from typhoid fever, at his father's home, at Seventh and Broadway, was slightly better this afternoon.

Miss Grace Everett, who is very ill from malarial fever at her home, on North Sixth street, was slightly better this afternoon.

VALUABLE TRAINING.

From New York Herald:

Mac—Did that course in physical culture do you any good?
Ethel—Yes, indeed. I never fail to reach the bargain counter now, no matter how big a crush there is.

Mr. Evan Prosser, of Louisville, traveling passenger agent for the B. and O. road, is at the Palmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Petter and daughter, Miss Jeanette, have returned from a trip through the north.

Mr. C. W. Stockdale, assistant superintendent of telegraphy, of the I. C., was in the city today on business.

Mrs. Isaac Dallam and Misses Carrie and Lucie Robison have returned from Mineral Mound farm, near Kut-tawa.

Mr. J. W. Gleaves left yesterday for Mont Eagle for his health which has not been good for the last two months.

Mr. H. H. Loving, who was slightly injured in a runaway at Providence, Ky., several days ago, is expected home Monday.

Miss Lillie Nolan and Master Fred Nolan, of Union City, Tenn., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. V. Green, on North Eighth.

Dr. Samuel Jackson of Hot Springs, Ark., is here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson, of North Sixth street.

Rev. G. W. Perryman returned this morning from a vacation spent in Central Kentucky. Mrs. Perryman and children will return next week.

Mr. Richard Clements went to Evansville on account of the illness of his brother, Mr. Harry Clements, who is suffering from appendicitis there.

Mr. O. B. Balthaser and Mr. W. A. Downs have returned from Smithland, where they have been engaged in work on new buildings and residences.

Mr. Will Haffey, of the Sells Bros.' shows, will leave with the show to-night for Mayfield. He has been laid off with an injured hand, blood poisoning being threatened.

AN EARLY START.

From New York Herald:

"She seems so young to be a widow."
"Yes, but it's just as well to start on one's married career as early in life as possible."

A LARGE SHIPMENT

Sutherland Medicine Co. Ships
Four Cars of Medicine Today.

The Company Will Ship $60,000 of Its Product in Next Few Days.

100 PER CT INCREASE IN YEAR.

The Sutherland Medicine company shipped four car loads of their products Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey and Walker's Tonic to city jobbers today, making one of the largest, if not the largest shipment ever made out of Paducah by one concern in one day. The goods are for jobbers in Louisville, Memphis, Evansville and Kansas City, and one entire car for St. Louis. This shipment is only a forerunner of more to follow in the next few days. The aggregate amount in dollars and cents of the shipment will foot up nearly $60,000, and is a just 10 per cent increase over last year's record.

The growth of this now famous medicine company has been very rapid, especially in the past three years, and if it keeps up at the pace now set it will be but a few years until the company is doing a business of a million dollars a year. Mr. Lindsey, the manager, of the company, says it is only a question now of a few years until he reaches the million figure.

The company is now traveling nineteen men, and covers twenty-two states. The plans for this year are for the opening of more new territory, including the city of Chicago. After that comes the establishment of branch headquarters in a Western and an eastern city.

The officers of the Sutherland Medicine company are Richard Rudy, president, H. R. Lindsey, vice president and general manager, and Charles Allcott, secretary.

HIS SOLITARY SATISFACTION.

"Does Jawley chew gum habitually?"
"No, Why?"
"I never see him that his jaw isn't wagging."

"Oh, that's because he delights in saying to himself the things he would say to his wife if he dared."—Harper's Bazar.

PASSING STRANGE.

From Philadelphia Press:
"Doesn't it seem strange that so few men discover the secret of success in life?"

"Yes, but it seems stranger still that the secret is still a secret. Surely some of the few who discovered it must have told it to their wives."

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

Death

From Bad Dreams if Heart is Weak.

To Awake in Fear a Bad Symptom.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure
Will Cured You.

Recent investigations by specialists on the heart have demonstrated that in nine cases out of ten of deaths in bed, heart action was stopped by fear, which bad dreams or nightmare had brought on. After a careful study of the habits of those who died in over a thousand cases, it has been found that the majority had been sufferers from nightmare or nocturnal disturbances, dreamland, and that frequently they awoke in the middle of the night completely exhausted and gravely alarmed through some particularly vivid dream. Thus we learn to recognize dreaming and nightmare as a marked symptom of heart disease. Be warned in time. Strengthen the heart's action with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, which enriches the blood, improves the circulation, regulates the pulse and invigorates the heart nerves.

"When I would get home at night and sit down, I did not feel like moving. When I tried to sleep I would doze off and then awake with a sudden fright. This would happen several times during the night and when morning came I felt like iron weights were attached to me and dragging me down. I doctored with home physicians and took treatment from specialists but nothing did me any good until I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Remedies. The Heart Cure, Nerve and Nerve and Liver Pills were what I used and I am thankful to say they have cured me."—H. B. HYDE, 2414 S. Rampart Street, New Orleans, La.

ABOUT NAMING STREETS

While the matter is being discussed it is a good time to push it; and all persons with the welfare of the city at heart are interested. The suggestion of "B" to change all the names north and south to letters of the alphabet may be very good, and no doubt it is, as the streets of Washington are so named. Still, the names we have are all right, barring the particular one under discussion, and are in honor of men to whom honor is due. The proper thing to do is for the mayor and city fathers to INDICATE THE NAMES OF THESE STREETS BY PLACING THEM AT THE CORNERS. There and there only is where the principal trouble lies. It is a severe reproach on our fair and growing city that the "stranger within her gates" must wander along the streets when seeking a certain one, in an aimless, lost way; weary, embarrassed, confused, not to say highly indignant and thoroughly disgusted at the careless, "shiftless," neglected way the city is run. Surely they know that many bitter anathemas are hurled at their devoted heads for this really unpardonable neglect. There is no excuse whatever for not having neat, plain signs at every corner. No city is complete without them. It is not sufficient that they should be lettered or numbered in the city archives; they should be in plain view, where the thinking person could walk along a few blocks and at any moment know just where he is by looking up. It is impossible for one to walk along block after block and think of nothing but counting just how many he has passed ninety nine out of one hundred would have their mind on business or pleasure and forget how many they had walked. No, the one proper thing to do is for the council to put the name of the streets where they belong, namely in plain view on two corners at every block so that "he who runs may read."

PROMINENT MAN

MR. D. T. MARTIN DIED FROM HEART DISEASE AT LOUIS-VILLE.

Yesterday's Louisville Times says of the death of Mr. D. T. Martin, brother of Mr. W. A. Martin of the city: "D. T. Martin, a well known tobacco man of Greenville, Ky., died at St. Joseph's infirmary at 12:30 o'clock yesterday as the result of a heart attack which followed an operation for deafness. He was brought to the infirmary Monday and the operation was performed by Drs. Reynolds, Cottell and Vance. Mr. Martin was 49 years old and was a prominent figure in the tobacco market. He is survived by a widow and one son. The body was taken to the residence of Mrs. G. W. Dennis, a sister, at 2002 West Broadway, and will be taken to Greenville today for interment."

A WORM KILLER.

J. A. J. Montgomery, Puxico, Wayne county, Mo., writes: "I have little twin girls, who have been bothered with worms all their lives. I tried everything to relieve them, which failed until I used White's Cream Vermifuge; the first two doses brought four worms from one of them; the next two doses, twelve, one of them measuring twelve inches; the other child was only relieved of four worms. It is a most excellent medicine." White's Cream Vermifuge is good for children. It not only destroys worms, it helps the child to perfect growth, wards off sickness. 25c at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

4,000 SMITH'S

ATTEND A FAMILY REUNION IN NEW JERSEY.

New York, August 28—More than 4,000 Smiths were present at the 28th and largest annual reunion of the Smith family and friends at Peapack, N. J. Their ages ranged from a few weeks to 80 years. The founder of the family in New York, John Schmidt, is supposed to have arrived from Holland in 1713 and lived on a farm near Peapack. His seventeen children remained in the state of their birth, except two.

CURED PARALYSIS.

W. S. Baily, P. O. True, Texas, writes: "My wife had been suffering five years with paralysis in her arm, when I was persuaded to use Ballard's Snow Liniment, which cured her all right. I have also used it for old sores, frost bites and skin eruptions. It does the work." 25c, 50c and $1 bottles at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

A GIGANTIC SCHEME

Alleged to Have Been Extensively Practiced.

J. W. Geist Arrested in Louisville and it is Believed Big Fraud Will Be Unearthed.

SCHEME WORKED THREE YEARS

Louisville, Ky., August 28—Behind the arrest here yesterday of Jason W. Geist, claiming to represent the National Gazetteer of New York and Chicago, lies, according to the detectives, the story of one of the most extensive advertising swindles operated in recent years, and, although only this one arrest has been made, it is stated others will be brought into the toils as the investigation proceeds. It is thought there are about a dozen persons implicated in the scheme. It is asserted the swindle has been worked in every city of any size in the United States, and that within the past three years, since the scheme has been in operation, more than a million dollars has been filched from business men and corporations.

The arrest of Geist followed complaints made by firms local chiefly by Mr. W. H. Edinger, president of the German Insurance bank, to whom a bill for advertising in the alleged National Gazetteer, of New York and Chicago, was sent. Mr. Edinger alleges he did not sign a contract for any advertising, and when payment was insisted on he became suspicious, and turned the matter over to Hauger's detective agency. Complaint was also made by the Caron Directory company, it being asserted that the National Gazetteer of New York and Chicago was not in existence, and that the solicitors for advertisements were securing money under false pretenses. The detectives went to work, and after watching Geist for several days, decided to make the arrest. They found him walking along on Fourth avenue, near Green, today.

He was taken to police headquarters by Detectives Harding and Armstrong and slated on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Geist when seen at police headquarters refused to make a statement. He is a man about five feet six inches tall, well dressed and of refined manners.

The specific plan on which the alleged swindle was worked was the soliciting of advertisements for the alleged Gazetteer, which is said by the police to have no existence further than a dummy copy which the solicitor is said to have carried about with him for display purposes. It is said the plan of operation was to secure the signature of a business man or firm to a few simple questions relative to advertisements and then to have the questions so arranged that by a system of manipulation they could be turned into what purported to be a contract for advertisement for which the signer agreed to pay a given sum.

When convenient, it is said, a contract was made. It is alleged these contract prices were frequently raised and that the Louisville Ice company contracted for advertising at the rate of $25, and that when the bill was presented the amount had been raised to $65.

It was later stated the alleged swindle had been operated in France, Germany, England and other foreign countries and that circulars have been strewn broadcast over those countries by interested persons warning the unwary against participation in the scheme.

WANTED WARRNT

BUT THE JUSTICE CONCLUDED
SHE HAD NONE COMING.

Henry Vaughan, a well known resident of near Tyler, just beyond Mechanicsburg, administered a chastisement to his 15-year-old daughter yesterday, it seems, for receiving the attentions of an objectionable young man. She claimed she was beaten unmercifully, and went to Justice Sears for a warrant, but it was not given after investigation on the presumption that she was only properly corrected by her parent.

OUTING SPOTS

There are many places in the country of the Northern Pacific, some inexpensive, others better and more expensive, where one can spend the summer days pleasantly and healthfully. Among these are Walker in the Leech lake country, and Detroit and Battle Lake in the Lake Park region in Minnesota; Eaton's ranch, near Medora, N. D.; Hunter's Hot Springs in the Yellowstone valley, and Missoula and the Bitter-root valley in Montana; Lakes Pend d'Oreille and Cour d'Alene, Idaho; North Yakima in Eastern Washington, and Green River Hot Springs in the Cascades; Tacoma, Seattle, Port Townsend, Port Angeles and Victoria on Puget Sound, and many places along the Columbia river and on the Pacific Ocean from Portland as a center.

Those east of the Mississippi who wish a decided change should go to the Rockies or the Puget Sound and Columbia river and sea coast country. We can only hint at these things here, but write us giving particulars as near as you can, and we will try to give you the needed information to enable you to find what you want. And don't forget that Yellowstone Park is the chief of all tourist shrines.

LAZARRE

... By ...
MARY HARTWELL CATHERWOOD

(Based Upon the Mystery Surrounding the Fate of the Dauphin, Son of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette)

Copyright, 1931, by the BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"The northern part only."
"It happened in what was called the Pigeon Roost settlement at the fork of the White river. The Kickapoos and Winnebagoes did it. There were about two dozen people in the settlement."

"I asked how you know these things."
"I have some of the best Indian runners that ever trod moccasins, and when I set them to scouting they generally find what I want; so I know a great many things."

"But Paul?"
"It's an old custom to adopt children into the tribes. You know your father, Chief Williams, is descended from a white girl who was a prisoner. There were about two dozen people in the settlement, men, women and children. The majority of the children were dashed against trees. It has been consolation to me to think she did not survive in the hands of savages."

The hidden causes which work out results never worked out a result more improbable. I lay silent, and De Chaumont said:

"Do you remember the night you disappeared from the Tuilleries?"

"I remember it."

"You remember, we determined not to let the Marquis de Ferrier see Napoleon. When you went down the corridor with Eagle I thought you were luring him. But she told us afterward you were threatened with arrest, and she helped you out of the Tuilleries by a private stairway."

"Did it make any stir in the palace?"
"No. I saw one man hurrying past us. But nobody heard of the arrest except Eagle."

"How did she get out?"

"Out of what?"

"The queen's closet."

"She was in the garden. She said she went down the private stairway to avoid the gendarme. She must have done it cleverly, for she came in on the arm of Junot, and the matter was not noticed. There stood my emergency, facing me again. You had deserted. What made you imagine you were threatened with arrest?"

"Because a gendarme in court dress laid his hand on my shoulder and told me I was to come with him."

"Well, you may have drawn the secret police upon you. You had been cutting a pretty figure. It was probably wise to drop between walls and get out of France. Do you know why you were arrested?"

"I think the groundless charge would have been an attack upon Napoleon."

"You never attacked the emperor."

"No, but I had every reason to believe such a charge would be sworn against me if I ever came to trial."

"Perhaps that silly dauphin story leaked out in Paris. The emperor does hate a Bourbon. But I thought you had tricked me. And the old marquis never took his eyes off the main issue. He gave Eagle his arm and was ready to go in and thank the emperor."

"You had to tell him?"

"I had to tell him."

"What did he say?"

"Not a word. All the blood seemed to be drawn out of his veins, and his face fell in. Then it burned red hot, and instead of good friend and benefactor I saw myself a convict. His big, staring blue eyes came out of a film like an owl's and shot me through. I believe he saw everything I ever did in my life and my intentions about Eagle most plainly of all. He bowed and wished me good night and took her out of the Tuilleries."

"But you saw him again?"

"He never let me see him again, or her either. I am certain he forbade her to communicate with us. They did not for the Indiana territory, where the Pigeon Roost settlement was planted. I have seen old Saint-Michel work at clearing, and can imagine the Marquis de Ferrier sweating weakly while he chopped trees. It is a satisfaction to know they had Ernestine with them. De Ferrier might have plowed with Eagle," said the count hotly. "He never hesitated to make use of her."

While I had been living a monk's studious, well provided life was she toiling in the fields? I groaned aloud.

De Chaumont dropped his head on his breast.

"It hurts me more than I care to let anybody but you know, Lazarre. If I hadn't received that letter I should have avoided you. I wish you had saved Paul. I would adopt him."

"I think not, my dear count."

"Nonsense, boy! I wouldn't let you have him."

"You have a child."

"Her husband has her. But let us not pitch and toss words. No use quarreling over a dead boy. What right have you to Eagle's child?"

"Not your right of faithful, useful friendship, only my own right."

"What's that?"

"Nothing that she ever admitted."

"I was afraid of you," said De Chaumont, "when you flowered out with old Du Plessy like an heir lost in emigration and found again. You were a startling fellow, dropping on the Faubourg, and anything was possible under the empire. You know I never believed the dauphin nonsense, but a few who remembered said you looked like the king. You were the king to her, above mating with the best of the old nobility. She wouldn't have married you."

"Did she ever give you reason to think she would marry you?"

"She never gave me reason to think she would marry anybody. But what's the use of groaning? There's distraction abroad. I took the trails to see you when I heard you were with the troops on Champlain. I shall be long in France. What can I do for you, my boy?"

"Nothing, count. You have already done much."

"She had a foolish interest in you. The dauphin! Too good to sit at table with us, you raw savage! Had to be waited on by old Jean! And she would have had me serve you myself!"

He laughed, and so did I. We held hands, clinging in fellowship.

"I might not have refused your service, like Marquis de Ferrier."

The count's face darkened.

"I'll not abuse him. He's dead."

"Are you sure he's dead this time, count?"

"A Kickapoo is carrying his scalp. Trust my runners. They have traced him so much for me they know the hair on his stubborn head. I must go where I can have amusement. Lazarre. This country is a young man's country. I'm getting old. Adieu. You're one of the young men."

Some changes of light and darkness passed over me, and the great anguish of my wound increased until there was no rest. However, the next man who visited me stood forth at the side of the stretcher as Bellenger. I thought I dreamed him, being light headed with fever. He was unaccountably weakened, robbed of juices and powdering to dust on the surface. His mustache had grown again, and he carried it over his ears in the ridiculous manner affected when I saw him in the fog.

"Where's your potter's wheel?" I inquired.

"In the woods by Lake George, sire."

"Do you still find clay that suits you?"

"Yes, sire."

"Have you made that vase yet?"

"No, sire. I succeed in nothing."

"You succeed in tracking me."

He swam before my eyes, and I pointed to the surgeon's camp chair.

"Not in your presence, sire."

"Have you lost your real dauphin?" I inquired.

"I have the honor of standing before the real dauphin."

"So you swore at Mittau."

"I perjured myself."

"Well, what are you doing now?"

"Sire, I am a man in failing health. Before the end I have come to tell you the truth."

"Do you think you can do it?"

"Sire"—said Bellenger.

"Your king is Louis XVIII," I reminded him.

"He is not my king."

"Taken your pension away, has he?"

"I no longer receive anything from that court."

"And your dauphin?"

"He was left in Europe."

"Look here, Bellenger. Why did you treat me so? Dauphin or no dauphin, what harm was I doing you?"

"I thought a strong party was behind you, and I knew there had been double dealing with me. You represented some invisible power tricking me. I was beside myself and faced it out in Mittau. I have been used shamefully and thrown aside when I am failing. Hiding out in the hills ruined my health."

"Let us get to facts, if you have facts. Do you know anything about me, Bellenger?"

"Yes, sire."

"Who am I?"

"Louis XVII. of France."

"What proof can you give me?"

"First, sire, permit a man who has been made a wretched tool to implore forgiveness of his rightful sovereign and a little help to reach a warmer climate before the rigors of a northern winter begin."

"Bellenger, you are entrancing," I said. "Why did I ever take you seriously? Ste. Pelagie was a grim joke, and tipping in the river merely your playfulness. You had better take yourself off now, and keep on walking until you come to a warmer climate."

He wrung his hands with a gesture that touched my natural softness to my enemy.

"Talk, then. Talk, man. What have you to say?"

"This, first, sire. That was a splendid dash you made into France."

"And what a splendid dash I made out of it again, with a gendarme at my coat tails and you behind the gendarme!"

"But it was the wrong time. If you were there now—the French people are so changeable!"

"I shall never be there again. His majesty the eighteenth Louis is welcome. What the blood stirs in me to know is, have I a right to the throne?"

"Sire, the truth as I know it I will tell you. You were the boy taken from the Temple prison."

"Who did it?"

"Agents of the royalist party whose names would mean nothing to you if I gave them."

"I was placed in your hands?"

"You were placed in my hands to be taken to America."

"I was with you in London, where two royalists who knew me recognized me."

"The two De Ferriers."

"Did a woman named Mme. Tank see me?"

Bellenger was startled.

"You were noticed on the ship by a court lady of Holland; a very clever courtier. I had trouble in evading her. She suspected too much and asked too many questions, and would have you to play with her baby on the deck, though at that time you noticed nothing."

"But where does the idiot come into my story?"

"Sire, you have been unfortunate, but I have been a victim. When we landed in New York I went directly and made myself known to the man who was to act as purveyor of your majesty's pension. He astonished me by declaring that the dauphin was already there and had claimed the pension for that year. The country and the language were unknown to me. The agent spoke French, it is true, but we hardly understood each other. I supposed I had nothing to do but present my credentials. Here was another idiot—I craved your majesty's pardon."

"Quite right—at the time, Bellenger."

"Drawing the annuity intended for the dauphin. I inquired into his rights. The agent showed me papers like my own. I asked who presented them. He knew no more of the man than he did of me. I demanded to face the man. No such person could be found. I demanded to see the idiot. He was shut in a room and fed by a hired keeper. I sat down and thought much. Clearly it was not the agent's affair. He followed instructions. Good! I would follow instructions also. Months would have been required to ask and receive explanations from the court of Monsieur. He had assumed the title of Louis XVIII. for the good of the royalist cause, as if there were no prince. I thought I saw what was expected of me."

"And what did you see, you unspeakable scoundrel?"

"I saw there was a dauphin too many, hopelessly idiotic. But if he was the one to be guarded I would guard him."

"Who was that idiot?"

"Some unknown pauper. No doubt of that."

"And what did you do with me?"

"A chief of the Iroquois Indians can tell you that."

"This is a clumsy story, Bellenger. Try again."

"If you knew so little of the country, how did you find an Iroquois chief?"

"I met him in the woods when he was hunting. I offered to give you to him, pretending you had the annuity from Europe. Sire, I do not know why trickery was practiced on me or who practiced it; why such pains were taken to mix the clues which led to the dauphin. But afterward the same agent had orders to give you two-thirds and me only one-third of the yearly sum. I thought the court was in straits—when both Russia and Spain supported it! I was nothing but a court painter. But when you went to France I blocked your way with all the ingenuity I could bring."

"I would like to ask you, Bellenger, what a man is called who attempts the life of his king?"

"Sire, the tricks of royalists pitted us against each other."

"That's enough, Bellenger. I don't believe a word you say excepting that part of your story agreeing with Mme. de Ferrier's. Put your hand under my pillow and find my wallet. Now help yourself, and never let me see you again."

He helped himself to everything except a few shillings, weeping because his necessities were so great. But I told him I was used to being robbed and he had done me all the harm he could, so his turn to pluck me naturally followed.

Then I softened, as I always do toward the claimant of the other part, and added that we were on the same footing—I had been a pensioner myself.

"Sire, I thank you," said Bellenger.

having shaken the wallet and poked his fingers into the lining where an unheard of gold piece could have lodged.

"It tickles my vanity to be called sire."

"You are a true prince," said Bellenger. "My life would be well spent if I could see you restored to your own."

"So I infer from the valuable days you have spent trying to bring that result about."

"Your majesty is sure of finding support in France."

"The last king liked to tinker with clocks. Perhaps I like to tinker with Indians."

"Sire, it is due to your birth!"

"Never mind my birth," I said. "I'm busy with my life."

He bowed himself out of my presence without turning.

The third to appear at my tent door was Chief Williams himself. The surgeon told him outside the tent that it was a dangerous wound. He had little hope for me, and I had indifferent hope myself, lying in torpor and finding it an effort to speak. But after several days of effort I did speak.

The chief sat beside me, concerned and silent.

"Father," I said.

The chief harkened near to my lips.

"Tell me," I begged after resting, "who brought me to you?"

His dark, sullen face became tender. "It was a Frenchman," he answered. "I was hunting and met him on the lake with two boys. He offered to give you to me. We had just lost a son."

When I had rested again I asked:

"Do you know anything else about me?"

"No."

The subject was closed between us.

CHAPTER XXV.

BUT the chief's and Skenedonk's nursing and Indian remedies brought me face earthward again, reviving the surgeon's hope. When blood and life mounted and my torn side sewed up its gap in a healthy scar, adding another to my collection, autumn was upon us. From the hunting lodges on Lake George and the Williamses of Longmeadow I went to the scorched capital of Washington. In the end the government helped me with my Indian plan, though when Skenedonk and I pushed out toward Illinois territory we had only my pay and a grant of land. Peace was not formally made until December, but the war ended that summer.

The Oneidas were ready to follow wherever I led them, and so were many families of the Iroquois federation. But the Mohawk tribe held back. However, I felt confident of material for an Indian state when the foundation should be laid.

We started lightly equipped upon the horse paths. The long journey by water and shore brought us in October to the head of Green Bay.

Green Bay, or La Baye, as the fur hunters called it, was a little post almost like a New England village among its elms—one street and a few outlying houses beside the Fox river. The open world had been our tavern, or any sod or log hut cast up like a burrow of human prairie dogs or moles. We did not expect to find a tavern in Green Bay. Yet such a place was pointed out to us near the fur company's block warehouse.

Our host served us himself. His taproom was the fireplace cupboard, and it was visited while we ate our supper by men in elkskin trousers and caps and hooded capotes of blue cloth. These Canadians mixed their own drink and made a cross mark on the inside of the cupboard door, using a system of bookkeeping evidently agreed upon between themselves and the landlord.

Nightfall was very clear and fair in this northwestern territory. A man felt nearer to the sunset. The region took hold upon me, particularly when one who was neither a warehouseman nor a Canadian fur hunter hurried in and took me by the hand.

"I am Pierre Grignon," he said.

Indeed, if he had held his fiddle and tuned it upon an arm not quite so stout, I should have known without being told that he was the man who had played in the Saint-Michel cabin.

We sat and talked until the light faded. The landlord brought a candle and yelled up the loft, where Skenedonk had already stretched himself in his blanket.

"Chambermaid, light up."

"Never mind," said Pierre Grignon. "I'm going to take these travelers home with me."

"Now I know how a tavern ought to be kept," said the landlord. "But what's the use of my keeping one if Pierre Grignon carries off all the guests?"

"He is my old friend," I told the landlord.

"He's old friend to everybody that comes to Green Bay. I'll never get so much as a sign painted to hang in front of the Palace tavern."

I gave him twice his charges and he said:

"What a loss it was to enterprise in the Bay when Pierre Grignon came here and built for the whole United States!"

The Grignon house, whether built for the whole United States or not, was the largest in Green Bay. A hall divided the house through the center, and here Mme. Grignon welcomed me as if I were a long expected guest, for this was her custom, and as soon as she clearly remembered me, led me into a drawing room where a stately old lady sat making lace.

This was the grandmother of the house. Such a house would have been incomplete without a grandmother at the hearth.

To Our Dorothy Dodd Customers and Also Those Who Have Never Worn This Celebrated Shoe.

DEAR FRIENDS:

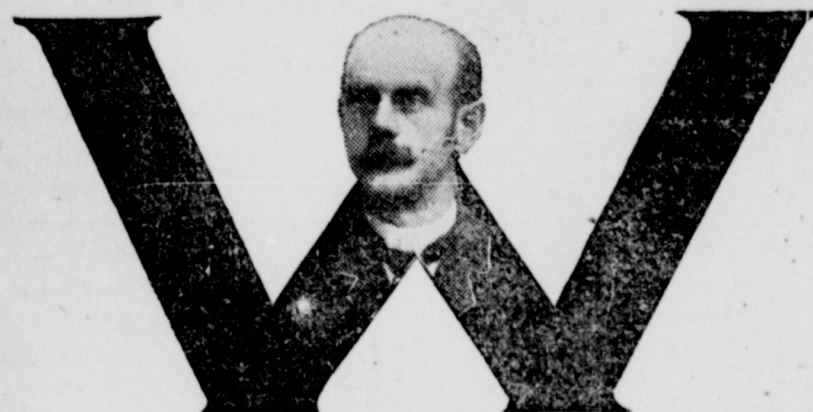

YOU have the average health and the average strength of a woman of your age. Yet you find yourself unduly fatigued by a day spent upon your feet. This is not a question of your condition but a question of your shoes. It is just here that we can help you.

We have built our famous "Dorothy Dodd" Shoe on an entirely new plan

Not shaping it from guesswork measurements on a wood last, but using the actual bones, muscles and ligaments of the foot as the last for the shoe, working entirely from "X-ray" photographs. The result is the most remarkable shoe you ever dreamed of, and one which makes no day too long for its happy possessor. We can never make you realize its comfort till you try a single pair. Won't you do this today? Very truly,

TROUBLE BREAKS OUT

A Herald Reporter Smashed at Frankfort Yesterday.

Resulted From Exposure of Democratic Administrations.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 28—Angered by the exposition of the pardon record of Gov. Beckham, and the criticisms of the administration which have appeared in the Louisville Herald, a number of the Democratic politicians and office holders have begun a campaign of intimidation against the local correspondent of the paper.

Yesterday while Ben Washer, who for some time has been representing the Herald here, was going up the capitol steps, he was surrounded by a gang of Democratic politicians and while the crowd was around him Charles Howes, of the secretary of states' office, struck him, knocking him down. Seeing that he was outnumbered, and that resistance was useless, Mr. Washer got up and left the crowd without trying to retaliate.

The action of Howes was but the culmination of an incident which occurred when Hubert Vreeland, Democratic nominee for commissioner of agriculture, attempted to force Washer into a fight in the treasurer's office in the presence of Jule Day and Charles Howe. Vreeland waited until the correspondent had gotten some distance in the office, and knowing that he was well surrounded, demanded an explanation of Washer for the stories which have recently appeared in the Herald reflecting on the administration. Upon Mr. Washer replying that he meant just what he said Vreeland called him a liar and threatened to "knock his head off," accompanying his threats with profane language.

Mr. Washer, believing the whole affair had been arranged to force him into trouble, refused to resent Vreeland's remarks.

Theatrical Notes.

It is understood Mr. Seward, of the Seward Shows, will have a company here for the Casino, Wallace park, September 31.

Mr. Matt Beatty and wife, of Paducah, are at Owensboro this week with the Schaeffer-Middleton Stock Co., rehearsing for Faust, which the company will produce this season.

Mr. James A. Young, who was to star as Mephisto in Faust in a company to include people from Paducah and Mayfield, has signed with "Alaska" for the season.

Edward Garvie, the comedian and star of Broadhurst and Currie's "Mr. Jolly of Joliet," made his entree into the profession as a tragic actor. His ambition is to play "Hamlet" some day.

Lew Dockstader, the famous minstrel man, was telling a story on the occasion of his last run into New York from the road, which he characterizes as the prize hard luck tale of the year.

"The other day on the train I made the acquaintance of a young man who seemed down on his luck, and after our acquaintanceship had developed into something approaching intimacy, I ventured to inquire the cause of his deep seated gloom.

"Well," he said, "I've been up against it for fair. Put every cent I had in the world into an Uncle Tom's Cabin show. Had a man named Silverstein as treasurer of the show. Smart thrifty Hebrew that Silverstein. Been out about two weeks, and was over four hundred bones to the good. Woke up one morning and found that Silverstein had sneaked with the cash. Said to myself, 'I'll catch the cuss,' so I set the bloodhounds we had in the show on this trail."

"Did they catch him?" I asked.
"Catch him? Sure they did. They caught up with him, and he put chains around their necks, and started another Uncle Tom's Cabin show. Oh, yes, they caught him all right."

SOLDIERS LIFE

Was too Hard for This Young Man's Constitution.

H. E. Lanier Dies at I. C. Hospital After Service in Philippines.

Mr. H. E. Lanier, a machinist of the I. C. shops, died last night at the I. C. hospital from abscess of the liver. He originally resided in New Orleans, but came here from the Philippines where he had served as a soldier in the U. S. army. He arrived here June 1 and went into the hospital July 11, his illness having been the result of his life in the Philippines.

He was 23 years of age and left a father and brother living in New Orleans. The remains were taken to Nance and Spaulding's undertaking establishment and his relatives notified of his death. No disposition will be made of the body until they are heard from.

HAYES'
BEECHWOOD EMULSO-HYPO
WITH IRON

Makes Fat, Strength, Blood, Bone and Muscle.

If you are tired, broken down, despondent, worn out, pale, losing flesh, have no energy, don't feel like arising in the morning for the day's work, you should take a bottle of this wonderful medicine.

BOGOTA, Miss., March 19, 1903.

Gentlemen:
It affords me no little pleasure to testify to the wonderful properties of Hayes' Beechwood Emulso-Hypo with Iron, when the doctors said that I could not get well. After taking six or eight bottles I weighed 75 pounds. That has been ten years and I am still living in fine health. Wishing you success in its sale, I am yours truly, FRED S. DAWSON.

ARLINGTON, Ky., March 19, 1903.

Gentlemen: Having used Hayes' Beechwood Emulso-Hypo with Iron I cannot commend it too highly to others as a tonic flesh builder and to give strength, blood and muscle. It is superior to any preparation of which I have any knowledge. I take pleasure in recommending it. Yours truly, AARON G. DAVIS.

Pastor M. E. Church, South.

Read what the editor of the Southerner, Okolona, Miss., says:

Shoffner-Hayes Medicine Co., Paducah, Ky. In 1901 my mother commenced taking Hayes' Beechwood Emulso-Hypo with Iron, when the doctors said her lungs were so badly involved that she would not likely survive but a few weeks. It improved her so rapidly that she was soon in good health for one of her years. I wish you the success you deserve with your Beechwood Emulso.

Suffered six years with a cough that threatened Consumption. Entirely cured by Beechwood Emulso-Hypo.

Shoffner-Hayes Medicine Co., Paducah, Ky. Dear Sirs: I suffered for six years with a cough that threatened Consumption. This spring I took six bottles of Hayes' Beechwood Emulso-Hypo and it cured my cough, and I think I am entirely well. Yours truly, MRS. W. H. STEWART.
